

Business Valuation

There are many factors beyond the numbers that impact value

HeimLantz has a dedicated team that has the training and experience to not just interpret the numbers, but also to translate qualitative nuances into quantifiable and supportable values. HeimLantz's business valuation experts bring specialized training and the experience of hundreds of valuations performed over the full spectrum of engagement types and businesses.

Regardless of whether you need a business valuation for estate planning, divorce, shareholder disputes, mergers and acquisitions, business succession, or other purposes, our certified and highly experienced professionals are here to help you.

Among attorneys, HeimLantz has built a reputation for well-reasoned, defensible valuation reports as well as a strong track record for providing expert witness testimony as well as other litigation support and forensic services.
